Locally known as "The Slipway" it was constructed by the Environmental Agency in 1974 with free public access to Porth Simdde beach - one of the best on Pen Llyn

The access gate- locked since 2001

<<The Porth Simdde beach deserted on a warm day 06 June 2005. On the hottest day of 2005 to date 08 June, only two families were on the beach.

During the 1980's and 1990's a similar day in June would have had people jostling for space, I can remember a Germans family on one side who came for several years, Dutch people on the other side - such wonderfully uninhibited females those continentals!

Whilst apart from the village the shops always benefited. Regular trips to use the facilities always meant a return with a handful of ices and a plastic toy or two.

Most of the trackway is still in reasonable order

A small landslip has occurred

During January 2005 a storm has started to break up the slipway concrete slab but other than adding a kissing gate only a relatively small amount of remedial work is required to reinstate this valuable asset for the benefit of the local Deunant area community and more importantly Summer visitors.
